CONFUSION, GREAT US DANGER, NYARADI

Wild Session In Senate Kills School Superintendent Bill

By JOSEPH VARILLA
United Press International

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — A turbulent storm and then a calm. That was the story in the Senate Tuesday.

The storm lasted for almost two hours. It was marked by confusion, yelling, argument and name calling. It was brewed principally by the filibuster of Sen. H. Nick Johnson, R-Harlan, and worsened by the fact that no one seemed to know how to cope with it. Parliamentary procedure was thrown out the window.

Later came the calm, during which the Senate got down to business and in orderly fashion passed 19 bills.

But it was the storm that will be remembered. It came when an attempt was made to resurrect a bill that would place on the ballot an amendment to make the office of state superintendent of public instruction appointive.

Bill Defeated Once

The bill had been defeated last Tuesday. In order to bring it up again, all of the Senate rules were suspended. It came up despite the cries of Sen. George E. Overby, D-Murray, that the action violated the Constitution, the Senate rules and Jefferson's manual.

Opponents of the bill argued that a rules suspension meant all the rules were thrown out temporarily and that there was no limit to debate.

Finally, during the roll call with the vote at 10 to 7, the clerk called Johnson's name. He declared he first wanted to explain his vote. He said he would do it by reading the House Journal—a job that could have taken hours.

That did it.

Filibuster Brings Chaos

While Johnson read from the Journal, senators hurried in and out of the chamber. Some came down on the floor and there was general disorder. In the middle of it all, four secretaries trooped in carrying a cake and singing "Happy Birthday" to Sen. J. D. Buckman, D-Shepherdsville.

Observers who have been in the state government many years said it was the wildest session they had ever seen.

The Harlan County Republican talked for more than an hour before administration forces regrouped for action. Sen. Richard L. Garnett, D-Glasgow, made a motion to recess.

This brought howls from Johnson and his routing section. They claimed no other action would be taken until after the roll call was completed and before it could even continue Johnson had to vote. They said he had the floor as long as he wanted it.

Call For Recess

With about half a dozen senators on their feet, Sen. Alvin Kidd, D-Sparta, president pro tem who was presiding, ruled the motion to recess was "in order." He ordered a roll call on it. But Johnson stuck to his argument and kept talking.

As the roll progressed, his supporters needed the vote. Sen. Rex Logan, D-Smiths Grove, asked who had the floor. He indicated that if he had it he would take just as long to explain his vote on the recess vote as Johnson was taking on the bill vote.

The end came one hour and 17 minutes after Johnson began speaking when Sen. James C. Ware, majority leader, threw in the towel. He held a hurried conference with Johnson, persuaded him to yield the floor then made a motion to table the bill. That had the effect of killing the bill, Johnson had won his point.

For the rest of the afternoon Ware called up nothing but non-controversial bills.

Draft Call Will Be 6,000 In April

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department today issued a draft call for 6,000 men to be inducted into the Army during May.

The Army now has a strength of 1,114,000 men, including 156,000 reserves and National Guardsmen called to active duty. The level is scheduled to taper off to about 960,000 men during the year.

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro lashed out early today at government censors who try to "muzzle" Cuban heroes by deleting references to God from their historic utterances.

Castro was incensed by the reading at a mass meeting here of an abridged version of a slain leftist's "political testament." The words "we trust that the purity of our motives will find favor with God" had been cut from the passage.

"Have we fallen so low that we must omit these lines because they speak of religious convictions?" Castro demanded in a 66-minute speech. "This was the act of a lackwit who has confidence neither in his own ideas

Edward Kennedy Is Senate Candidate

BOSTON (UPI) — Edward M. Ted Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, formally announced his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination as U. S. senator.

The 30-year-old Kennedy thus challenged Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of U. S. House Speaker John W. McCormack, for the party nomination. McCormack made his announcement March 5.

Kennedy's statement said: "I am announcing today my candidacy for the Senate of the United States. I make this decision in full knowledge of the obstacles I will face, the charges that will be made and the heavy responsibilities of the office to which I aspire."

The contest this year is for the two years remaining in the Senate term vacated by the President after his election in 1960 as Chief Executive.

The younger Kennedy's reference to the "charges that will be made" were in obvious comment on protests about the "Kennedy dynasty" and the fact that he has had no experience in elective office.

Kennedy has worked as a $1-a-year assistant district attorney in Suffolk County for the past year but has spent much of his time preparing the way for today's announcement.

The present office holder is Sen. Benjamin A. Smith, D-Mass., who was named interim senator after Sen. John F. Kennedy vacated the seat in 1960. Smith has announced he will not run.

Dr. Oakley Back From Conference

"It was an extremely interesting and worthwhile meeting," Dr. Hugh L. Oakley, Head Industrial Arts Department, Murray State College, said today after his return from the President's Conference on Occupational Safety in Washington.

The 3,500 conferees heard from Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Astronaut Major Leroy G. Cooper, Jr., Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, and more than a score of other leaders from State and local government, business, industry, and education during the 3 days of session March 6, 7, and 8.

In addition to the four plenary sessions of the Conference, Dr. Oakley took part in one or more of the eight Workshops on the specific phases of safety in which he was most interested. The Conference scope ranged from safety on the launching pad for the Astronauts and the thousands of workers required to put them into space, to safety on the loading docks of the Nation's trains and ships.

"We heard from experts in the various fields, and were able to exchange ideas and techniques with others from over the country and from other industries," Dr. Oakley said. "It was very encouraging to see the interest of labor and business leaders and officials of all levels of government in reducing the toll of work accidents."

Guard Removed From Hospital After Tragedy

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (UPI) — Police department today withdrew a heavy guard detail that stood watch Tuesday night at Binghamton General Hospital. The hospital had received a bomb threat because six infants died there after overdoses of salt in their formulas.

Police said there were no plans to post the guard again tonight unless another telephoned threat was made. Despite withdrawal of the police guard, however, the hospital continued its own tense precautions, instituted Tuesday night.

Detectives, Pinkerton guards, hospital employees and volunteers guarded every corridor of the six-story Binghamton General Hospital. Otiside, search lights were trained on the grounds during the pre-dawn hours.

Called Screwballs, Cranks

"The callers would have to be screwballs or cranks," said police Sgt. Carl Stolz when questioned by a newsman. But a heavy guard was maintained for the protection of patients in the 319-bed, red brick hospital.

Of the 30 infants who received sodium — poisoned formulas last week — a practical nurse apparently placed salt in a sugar container, four remain under constant observation.

A Sombre Note

But Dr. Lawrence Finberg, a specialist from Johns Hopkins Medical School, added a sombre note when he said it might be years before it could be determined whether any of the babies suffered brain damage. Finberg flew here to help treat the stroke victims.

It was explained that the children would have to reach their "full intelligence growth" before permanent brain damage could be diagnosed. An infant receiving a daily teaspoon of salt get a dosage equal to four pounds in an adult, physicians observed.

When the Farmer Exchanged his Freedom to Plant what he wished,

Dr. Nyaradi called on American business to stand up for itself. The last opportunity is at hand for American business to be heard by the people, he continued. Business is browbeaten and taken advantage of, however it can still go to the American public.

Speaker Addresses Combined Civic Clubs Here Last Night

"The great danger in America today is our confusion, and division of opinion on American foreign policy," Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi told an interclub meeting last night at the Murray Woman's Club House.

Dr. Nyaradi, former Minister of Finance of the Republic of Hungary and now a naturalized American citizen and Director of the School of International Studies at Bradley University, spoke to the combined memberships of the Lions, Kiwanis, YBMC, Jaycee and Rotary Clubs.

Dr. Nyaradi Told the Large Audience that today we have on the one hand, one large faction that would have America take a strong stand against the Soviet, while on the other hand is a faction that maintains that the west should placate and compromise with Russia. One faction proclaims that to take a strong stand would be to invite war.

"We must understand that the primary aim of our adversary is the quick extermination of America," he continued.

He criticized Ambassador Adlai Stevenson for his being against a strong stand, and Stevenson's stand that such a position on our part would invite World War III.

"It is high time the American people understand, as I did in the Kremlin that only thing Russia understands is a strong iron fist," Dr. Nyaradi told the crowd. He referred to his seven months of negotiating with Russia over the fate of Hungary.

We must let Russia know that we are ready, willing and able to fight to maintain our way of life, he continued.

Dr. Nyaradi told the assembled civic clubs that the root of our tension is in Cuba. Mr. Khrushchev does not believe our words about a stand in Berlin because of our stand in Cuba, he said.

America acted as though a popularity contest was underway when the Cuba situation arose, Dr. Nyaradi said. We were trying to hold the love and affection of Latin American countries while at the same time trying to deal with a Cuban dictator. "If we had the guts and courage in Cuba, we would have earned the respect of the Latin American countries and the world," Dr. Nyaradi continued.

Courage is important in dealing with people of Castro's type,

he said. "It is high time for America to get away from the whimpering, sick creature we have represented, to the nation of prestige we should be," he said.

The same "gunboat diplomacy" used against Trujillo should have been used in Cuba, he told the group.

Dr. Nyaradi asked if the United States had a double standard of ethics and if the UN used a double set of standards. This even further confuses our policy. The UN used jet planes to bring Katanga back into the Congo fold, he said and yet while Russia was beating Hungary to its knees only pious words came from the UN.

Khrushchev knows that America could win a war today with its amazing productivity and its agricultural production. This is our greatest defense, he continued.

We must maintain our economy. America is a dangerous position in this respect today, he continued, because we are on the road to socialism. When we get there we will say "How did we ever get here?"

We are on the road to socialism, he continued.

When the farmer exchanged his freedom to plant what he wished,

when he wished, for a government quota with its restrictions, he was admitting socialism," he said.

Dr. Nyaradi called on American business to stand up for itself. The last opportunity is at hand for American business to be heard by the people, he continued. Business is browbeaten and taken advantage of, however it can still go to the American public.

Kentucky To Go Up Against Ohio State

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—It will be mighty Ohio State against Western Kentucky and Kentucky against Butler in the semi-finals of the NCAA Mid-East Regional Tournament Friday night, with most fans hoping for a classic meeting between the Buckeyes and the Wildcats the next night.

Butler and Western Kentucky clinched the semi-final berths Monday night in first round play at Lexington, Ky.

Butler upset Mid-America Conference champion Bowling Green, 36-35, on Jerry Williams' two free throws with 30 seconds left while Western Kentucky overcame a 36-point spurt by Detroit's Dave DeBusschere to beat the Titans, 90-81.

Butler will go against third-ranked Kentucky in the first game at 7 p.m. Friday with top-ranked Ohio State facing Western Kentucky in the second game at about 9 p.m.

The regional tournament finale will be played at 9 p.m. Saturday. If Ohio State and Kentucky advance it could be the "Basketball Game of the Year" for the regional title and the berth in the national event.

The two clubs have a combined record of 45 wins and only 3 defeats. Big Ten champion Ohio State is 23-1 while Kentucky, which shared the Southeast Conference title with Mississippi State, is 22-2.

During the past three seasons, the Buckeyes have lost only five games and one of those was a 96-93 loss to Kentucky in December of 1959. Ohio State, dumped by state rival Cincinnati in the NCAA final last year, will be gunning to avenge the loss and get another crack at the title.

LEADERSHIP

Girl Scouts train volunteers and professional workers from all parts of the world in leadership development. More than 20,000 women and men from every state in the union and 80-odd countries have attended the Edith Macy Training School in Pleasantville, N.Y., since its establishment in 1926. There they have received training in all aspects of Girl Scout programming and administration, including camp management and the leadership of girls and adults. The Girl Scouts also operate three other summer training centers in Buck Hill Falls, Pa., Excelsior Springs, Mo., and Pacific Grove, Calif. Approximately 1,500 volunteers receive training each year in the four centers. In the local training program, Mrs. James Garland serves as director of the training program for leaders. She is assisted by Mrs. Ralph Kavanagh.

FRIENDSHIP

International friendship is a basic part of Girl Scouting. Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. is one of the 52 national movements belonging to the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, which has a membership of 5,000,000. Girl Scouts learn about other people by working and playing together on exchange visits. During 1960, a total of 134 U.S. Girl Scouts, both girls and adults, visited 17 other countries. During August of 1961, Mrs. James Garland of Murray attended the world-wide conference of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides, held in Mexico. At present, Misses Jeanne Steytler and Duana Bromley are in training for the International Roundup which will be held in Vermont this summer. Alternates to the Roundup are Misses Letha Faye Young and Janice Thornton.

FOUNDER OF SCOUTS

REGISTRATION INSIDE FRANKFORT, March — Registration of boats on Kentucky water expires April 30 and must be renewed by that date at circuit clerks' offices. State Boating Director Scott Barbour, reminds Kentucky boat owners.

A registrant, Barbour said, is issued a wallet-size card which must be kept on the boat at all times. If the owner sells the boat he transfers ownership by signing the back of the card and the new owner must apply to the circuit clerk to re-register the boat.

When an owner registers his boat, it is assigned a number which must be painted on each side of the bow in figures at least three inches high and in a color contrasting to the hull.

Fans Young And Old From All Over Kentucky Make Their Way To Louisville To Witness State Tournament

By JOHN G. DIETRICH

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Fans young and old from all of Kentucky's 16 regions flocked to Louisville today for the opening of the 45th state high school basketball tournament at Freedom Hall tonight, most of them trying to pick a team big and strong enough to beat St. Xavier.

Of the other 15 regional champions in the field of this always flamboyant sea, one team — Lexington Henry Clay — already has done it.

That was in the finals of the Ashland Invitational Tournament last January, where the Blue Devils edged St. Xavier by a single point, but there's a big doubt existing that Baldy Gibb's Lexington team can do it again.

If the rematch comes about it will have to be in the title game Saturday night since Henry Clay is in the upper bracket of the draw and St. Xavier in the lower. But a lot of things can and are likely to happen before then.

Tonight, for one good example, Ashland's Tomcats will begin defense of their state crown in the opening session against Newport Public. Ashland will have only Conley back from last year's winners to throw against the northern Kentucky darkhorse entry, but Conley is a very big "only."

The tournament opener at 7:30 p.m. (EST) will match Earlington from the 2nd Region against the Somerset Briarjumpers, who somewhat surprisingly won the 12th Region and their eighth trip to the state tournament.

Earlington, with a 28-6 record, is back in the big show for the first time since their 1956 appearance with Harry Todd, while Somerset comes in with a 26-4 mark.

Thursday morning's session will open with Fulton (19-7) from the 1st Region meeting Caneyville (29-2) from the 4th Region. Basketball fever is about as high as it can get in Fulton for the twin city of South Fulton has made it all the way to the state tournament in Tennessee.

The second game Thursday morning sends Henry Clay (28-2) against Owensboro Senior (25-7) to wrap up the upper bracket first round schedule. Lower bracket first-rounders will be played Thursday afternoon and evening, quarter-final games Friday afternoon and evening.

Regarded as a major threat to St. Xavier in the lower bracket is the state's only undefeated team, the Allen County Patriots, who come in with a 30-0 record.

Their victims include Seneca, a one-point loser to St. Xavier in the 7th Region finals.

Allen County, which meets Henry Clay in the first round, is built around 6-4 Wayne Calvert who is as highly regarded for the way in which he passes off to teammates as for his 18-point per game scoring. He's a sort of Jerry Lucas of high school ball, also sporting a near-perfect scholastic record.

Allen County may be bucking a line. No Kentucky high school team has gone through a season and a state tournament since the Brewers did it 14 years ago.

St. Xavier, keyed by the big and rugged Mike Silliman, faces a tough Harrison County team in its first round match Thursday night. St. Xavier, under first-year Coach Joe Reibel, lost only the while scoring 30 victories, was the state's No. 1 team in the United Press International Kentucky High School Ratings.

State high school athletic officials foresee the biggest state tournament of them all from an attendance standpoint, with only a handful of tickets remaining for some sessions in the 18,500-seat Fairgrounds Coliseum.
